

Travel to Kanazawa from major international airports:

Komatsu Airport is the entrance to Kanazawa by air.

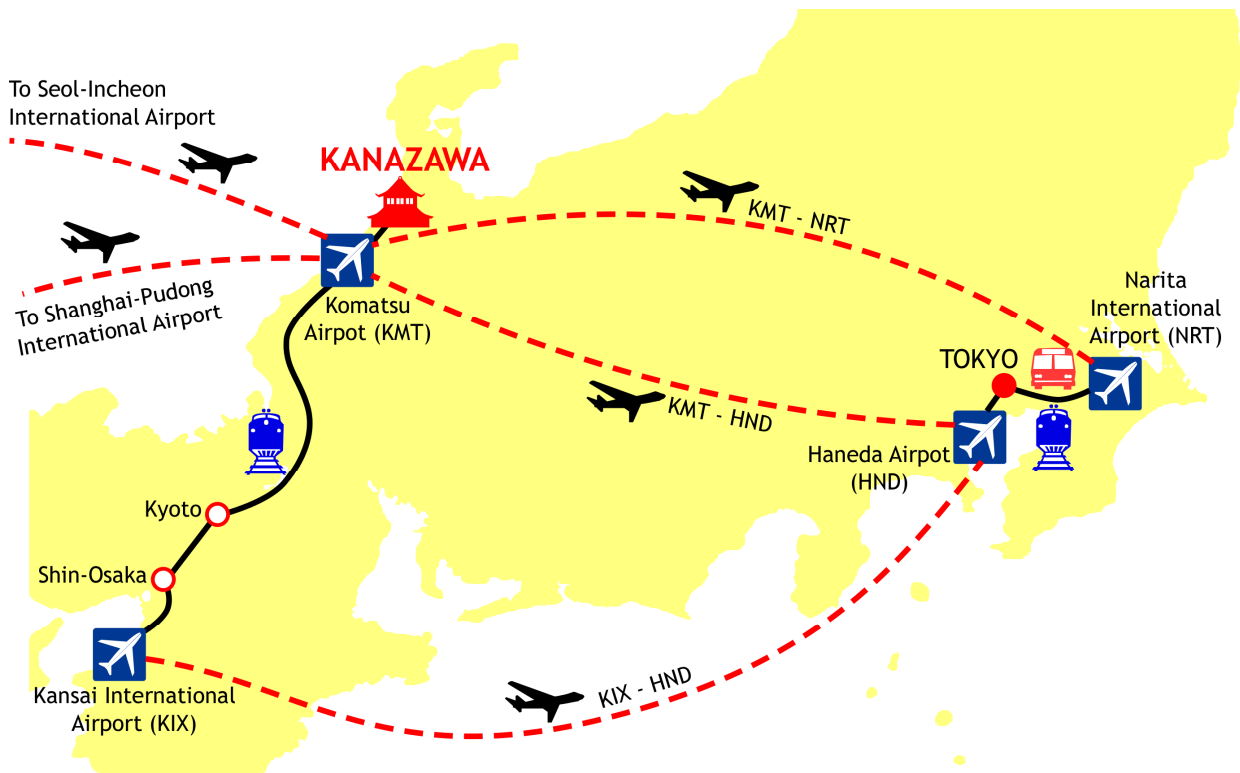

We have flights between Komatsu and Narita, Shanghai-Pudong, and Seoul-Incheon International Airports. However, the number of these flights are very limited.

The most common route to Komatsu is via Haneda (Tokyo) Airport (HND).

First you need to fly to either (Tokyo-)Narita International Airport (NRT) or (Osaka-)Kansai International Airport (KIX) and then move to Haneda. From Narita to Haneda Airport, you have to take either bus or train. You may fly from Kansai International Airport to Komatsu via Haneda Airport.

You may also come directly to Kanazawa from Kansai International Airport by Japan Railways (JR). It takes approximately 4 hr.

It is 40-60 min bus ride from Komatsu Airport to JR (Japan Railway) Kanazawa Station and to the city center. A one-way ticket is ¥1,040 (stopping every station) to ¥1,100 (Super express bus) for one way trip. From JR Kanazawa to Kanazawa university, it takes approximately 45 min by bus and 20 min by taxi.

Flight to and from Komatsu Airport:

There are several ways from domestic airports to Komatsu Airport, among which Haneda (Tokyo) Airport (HND) is the most convenient. We have frequent flights between Komatsu and Haneda almost every hour. However, the number of international flight from and to Haneda Airport is very limited, so that you need to fly to either (Osaka-)Kansai International Airport (KIX) or (Tokyo-)Narita International Airport (NRT) and then move to Haneda. You can fly from Kansai International Airport to Komatsu via Haneda Airport. Japan Airline (JAL) operates 7 flights/day between KIX and Haneda. From Narita to Haneda Airport, you have to take either bus or train.

We also have flights between Komatsu and Narita, Shanghai-Pudong, and Seoul-Incheon International Airports, but these are less frequent. You may be able to find a flight to Narita, Shanghai-Pudong and Seoul-Incheon from major airports in Europe and US. Time schedule for the flights between Komatsu and Narita, Shanghai-Pudong, and Seoul-Incheon are as follows (in Jan 2010):

Narita International Airport:

- ANA 3119 Narita to Komatsu: 1930-2045
- ANA 3118 Komatsu to Narita: 0830-0945

Shanghai-Pudong International Airport:

- CES/JAL 557/5290 Pudong 09:25 12:30 Komatsu
- CES/JAL 558/5291 Komatsu 13:30 15:00 Pudong

Seoul-Incheon International Airport:

- KAL/JAL 775/5228 Incheon 09:15 10:50 Komatsu
- KAL/JAL 776/5229 Komatsu 12:00 14:00 Incheon

From Narita International Airport to Haneda Airport:

Haneda Airport is located close to the center of Tokyo, and is the major hub terminal to domestic airports. From Narita to Haneda Airport, it takes approximately 90 min either by train or by bus (depending on the traffic).

- Limousine bus To get limousine bus is convenient for those who are not familiar with railway traffics in Tokyo and its suburbs. A ticket for the limousine bus is ¥3,000 (one way) and can be purchased on the arrival floor of Narita Airport.
- Train There are two railway companies connecting Narita Airport and the city center: JR Narita Express and Keisei Narita Line. However, JR Narita Express is more convenient to access to some major stations such as Tokyo, Shinjuku, Shinagawa Stations. It is an hour ride from Narita Airport to JR Tokyo Station. At JR Tokyo Station, you need to transfer to JR Yamanote Line and move to JR Hamamatsucyo Station, which is the third station from JR Tokyo. At JR Hamamatsucyo Station, you move upstairs to take Tokyo Monorail which takes you to Haneda Airport. It takes some 30 min from Hamamatsucyo to Haneda Airport . It costs ¥3,580 from Narita to Haneda Airport by JR and Tokyo Monorail.

There are two terminals in Haneda, from which your flight to Komatsu Airport departs, depending on your airlines. JAL departs from Terminal 1, and ANA departs from Terminal 2. Please make sure which terminal your flight departs.

Using railways to Kanazawa from (Osaka-)Kansai International Airport:

If you can't find an appropriate flight which connects the above flight to Komatsu, you may fly to (Osaka-)Kansai International Airport (KIX) and take JR (Japan Railway) to Kanazawa. It costs ¥10,150 and takes 4 hr by a limited express train from the airport to JR Kanazawa Station. You need to transfer at either Shin-Osaka or Kyoto Station on the way.

You may use the cards shown in the last two pages when you purchase train tickets. Print out these cards and show at a ticket booth of JR. You should be careful about the time when you transfer trains. You would have enough time to transfer trains when you come to Kanazawa, but you may have very short transfer time at Kyoto Station on the way back to Kansai International Airport from Kanazawa. When you purchase a ticket, be sure to check the time you have at the transfer station. If you have only several minutes for transferring trains, you may have better to change your seat for the next train (but it would come an hour later). Please consult at a ticket booth (Look for green sign) in a JR station.

Ticket booth of JR express trains has a green sign as shown below:

Ticket booth at Kansai International Airport

You will get three tickets: a ticket for the train pass from JR Kansai Airport to Kanazawa and tickets for the seats of the limited express (as shown below). Please remember that automatic ticket gates accept the train ticket only. Do not insert tickets for the limited express to a automatic ticket gate.
